Decision In Two Officer's Case Expected Soon

Stewart Denies He Fired Fatal Shot At Negro

Defendant Relates His Story Of The Tragedy

JUDGE RESERVES COURT DECISION

Crowds Wait About Courthouse Today Awaiting Verdict

At two o'clock this afternoon, Judge William T. Lowe in the Morgan County court still had not made known his decision in the preliminary hearing of Robert E. Stewart and J. M. West, Albany patrolmen, who were charged with having slain Asberry Murry, negro, during a raid in the Oklahoma section.

The trial came to a close late Monday afternoon following an all-day session devoted to the introduction of testimony and arguments by attorneys.

A feature of the evidence was the testimony of Mr. Stewart who denied that he fired the shots at Murry. He denied a statement appearing in The Daily sometime ago, quoting Mr. West as indicating that the shot was fired by Mr. Stewart. He stated, however, he had not previously requested the impression be corrected.

Large crowds attended the trial yesterday and many were about the courthouse during the day awaiting a decision.

S. E. Stewart, one of the defendants was called by the defense counsel.

Mr. Stewart declared that Mr. West came to his home on Sunday evening October 11 and that Patrolman E. E. Thompson drove him and Mr. West to the northeast of Oklahoma. He stated that they got out at that point and that the car turned around. "I went west, the distance of half a block," stated Mr. Stewart. "I saw Mr. West in the street, Oklahoma street, West headed south." "I saw Mr. West about 15 minutes later. I went toward Wash Spraggina and stopped near a hog pen. I did not know where Mr. West was. I was at the pen about five minutes. Mr. West came to me and we separated. Mr. West went west and I went south. Then I heard West holler 'Bob' I ran to him. I heard a gun shoot twice before I got to him. When I ran up West was on the ground. Mr. West said 'the negro knocked hell out of me.' The witness then stated that West told the story of his attempt to halt the negro, declaring that he told the negro to halt and that the negro had questioned who West was. Stewart said West declared he told the negro of his official capacity and that the negro then hit him (West). Mr. Stewart declared that the negro was then within five or six feet of him and West and that the negro was in a kneeling posture not yet having fallen to the ground.

He said the negro lived 2 or 3 minutes. He said that he and West searched for the latter's flashlight. He declared they located Mr. West's flashlight and that he told West to remain there while he (Stewart) returned to town. He said that West complained of his shoulder hurting him. In answer to a defense question in which Attorney Griffith asked Mr. Stewart if he fired his gun, Mr. Stewart answered that he did not. The witness then told of his return to the Albany city hall and of calling Mayor Carswell and Chief of Police Hendrix. He said on the return to the body of the negro that he made no examination of the body but that he and Mr. Thompson went through the pockets of the dead man. Mr. Stewart testified as to the au-

Monkey Business Gets Morgan Man In Trouble Again

Monkey business has gotten Connie Clemmons, Morgan County paroled prisoner, in trouble again.

Clemmons, whose views on evolution are not known, is in the Morgan County jail here, following an incident at Fairview, near here, in which he is said to have played a major role. He was arrested by M. J. Mitchell, Albany officer, and charged with discharging firearms on Sunday, assault and public drunkenness.

It was claimed a travelling show stopped at Fairview to get gasoline for the trucks. A monkey with the troupe was alleged to have grabbed a cigarette from Clemmons's pocket, which was disconcerting. The monkey also is alleged to have bitten the man on the hand, which was downright aggravating.

Clemmons then is said to have drawn a gun and fired at the monkey, severely wounding the animal.

Tenant House On Russell Farm Burns

A three room tenant house on the G. W. Russell farm, near here, burned this morning, according to word received by The Daily. The adult occupants of the house were said to have been away in the fields at the time, but the children escaped from the flames. A nearby cotton house, containing several bales of cotton, was believed to be safe.

The fire today destroyed the third tenant house on the Russell farm in the past 12 months.

Already several of Albany-Decatur's most beautiful girls have made application for the stellar role in the Daily motion picture "A Day in Hollywood" which is to be produced here in Albany-Decatur next week by the Pacific Coast Photoplay Producers of California. All others for the cast in this dashing movie will be persons from Albany-Decatur and vicinity and perhaps for the first time the people of Albany-Decatur will see just how the silver screen pictures are made.

In this issue will be found a nominating blank, and girls who are ambitious for the leading part in the movie should clip it and if possible send it, together with their photo to the Daily Movie Editor. If you do not have a photo, send the nominating blank anyway, for it is desired to have as many of the pretty girls of Albany-Decatur nominated as possible. There is no contest or any string attached to this offer. The method of selecting the cast will be same as that of Mack Sennett or any other producing company. Beauty, with personality and ability to screen well will be the prime factors in selecting the cast.

COMMITTEE PLANS 'IN THE MAKING' FOR HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

Conference Is Held By Members Of The Shrine Unit

SEEK MORE ROOM FOR INSTITUTION

Expect Announcement To Be Made In Next Few Days

Plans now are before the Shrine committee regarding the drive for $20,000 for construction of an additional wing to the institution, following a meeting of the committee in the Central National bank Sunday evening.

Communication has been established with a well known leader of such campaigns and it may be that interesting announcement concerning the campaign will be forthcoming in a few days.

The Shrine committee has been diligent in weighing all features of the campaign and its personnel desired that the campaign be launched at such a time and in such a manner that its success within a few weeks would be assured.

The Shriners undertook, some months ago, to raise funds for the relief of the hospital, which needs additional room. At a meeting early this fall committees were named from the Shrine membership to handle the details of the campaign and the committee, in turn, now is engaged in completing its plans.

The leader of the campaign has not yet been announced but many members of the committee are said to have felt that it would be necessary to obtain the advice of someone well versed in conducting such campaigns in order that the best results might be received.

FOLEY FORMALLY IS MADE A DEFENDANT IN PROBING CRASH

Newspaper Writer Says Mrs. Lansdowne Was Source Of Story

WIDOW STATED WAS INFLUENCED

Naval Court Is Filled With Survivors Of Shenandoah

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The charge that Captain Paul Foley of the Navy tried to influence the testimony of Mrs. Margaret R. Lansdowne was being investigated today at a public session of the naval court, probing the wreck of the dirt-gible.

First witness was Charles B. Palmer whose name was signed to news stories regarding Mrs. Lansdowne, recently distributed to newspapers by the Universal Service. Palmer identified himself as a newspaper writer that he wrote a published article quoting Mrs. Lansdowne and charging Foley tried to influence her. The article was published before the widow had given testimony of that subject before the Mitchell court-martial.

"What is the source of the article?" asked Major Harry Lawrence who replaced Captain Foley. "It is an interview with Mrs. Lansdowne," Palmer replied.

He said also some of the information came from a press release from the Navy department. He declared the widow told him "there was an attempt to have me give, well false testimony."

The examination of the witness was halted while Captain Foley was summoned and formally made a defendant. He took his place in the court with survivors of the Shenandoah crash and was given the right to counsel. James S. Esbenby Smith was introduced as counsel for Foley.

ALL IN READINESS FOR COUNTRY STORE

Ten Thousand Articles Offered In Unusual Establishment

Foster H. Pointer, manager of the Kiwanis Country Store, which will open Thursday, November 19, in the building next to the Morgan County National Bank, on Second avenue, announces that everything is in readiness for the grand opening.

This is the second year for the Country store, and a great success is predicted for the local Kiwanians this year in their quest for Charity money.

The various articles in the store have been donated by the local merchants and the committees in charge of the solicitations expressed gratification today in the response they had received from all the merchants that were called on.

The proceeds of the store will be used in Christmas relief work, a movement inaugurated in its first year of existence by the Kiwanis club and continued every year with increasing success. Various other organizations, including the Salvation Army and the Fraternal Aid Union are lending aid to the relief movement.

The country store is said to be a complete innovation in "merchandising" methods and while probably the store might not do a very profitable business if all articles were purchased at regular wholesale prices the fact that the articles were donated permit the management to offer some unusual offerings.

FALSE TESTIMONY PHRASE DENIED BY MRS. LANSDOWNE

Wife Of Commander Of Shenandoah Is Witness

LAWYER PUT OUT BY MARINE GUARD

Gives Her Testimony to Court Unwillingly After Incident

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne told the Shenandoah court today she had not used the expression "false testimony" in describing in a newspaper interview the efforts she said were made to guide her testimony before the court.

After once refusing to testify before her attorney had been excluded from the courtroom by a marine guard, she reversed her decision and said what she had charged was Captain Paul Foley, former the court's judge advocate, sought to have her twist the facts.

Her lawyer, Joseph Davies, had been ejected from the courtroom after the court had overruled his plea, even though she occupied no status in the court except that of a witness, the widow of the commander of the Shenandoah was entitled to counsel. As soon as she took the stand, Judge Advocate Leonard objected to Mrs. Lansdowne reading a memorandum.

"I respectfully decline to testify," she said.

"And now I advise the witness she should not testify," said Davies.

A marine, under orders, then led the attorney from the room.

The judge advocate declined to excuse the witness, however, and went on questioning her.

"Did you make the statement attributed to you in the article," he asked, presenting a story distributed by the Universal Service, quoting her as saying Captain Foley had sought to have her make false testimony.

"I did not make all the statement," Mrs. Lansdowne replied.

"I did not use the expression false testimony. What I said was an attempt had been made to make me twist the facts."

Mrs. Lansdowne pointed out several things in the story which she said were not strictly accurate. Previously the author of the article, Charles B. Palmer testified that Mrs. Lansdowne had made all the statements he attributed to her and in that language.

EIGHT DROWNED AS BOAT IS CAPSIZED

Crew Was Returning To Vessel Near Shelbourne, N. F.

(Associated Press)

SHELBOURNE, N. S., Nov. 17.—Eight members of the crew of the United States cutter "Morrell" were drowned last night when the sail boat in which they were returning to their vessel capsized in the harbor here.

The dead are: Henry Kingsberry 28, Detroit; Charles Lungren, 58, Detroit; Hohn Haltsack, 22, Baltimore; Herbert Wilson, 24, Montreal; John R. Shea, 24, Providence, R. I.; John I. Stevers, 22, Baltimore; I. J. Brackett 25, Louisville, Ky.; Hugh H. McMurde 25, chief yeoman, Clarksburg, West Va.

DETECTIVES ARE PLACED ON CASE

Gained Entrance By Burning Hole In Vault Door

Yeggs blew open the vault of the Scottsboro branch of the Tennessee Valley Bank late last night or early this morning and escaped with currency and silver amounting to between $15,000 and $20,000, it became known here today when local officials were advised by long distance telephone by the officials of the Scottsboro bank. Detectives have been notified.

According to the details given out by local officials of the chain system the robbery is the work of experts. It is believed that the men were experienced in safe cracking as the safe was of the screw door type which bank authorities declare is one of the most difficult to enter.

The thieves did not bother any of the securities or bonds in the big vault, taking only the money held in security.

Clyde Hendrix, president of the system, stated today that the loss will in no way fall upon the shoulders of depositors or bank patrons, the loss being covered with a $100,000 blanket bond policy. Mr. Hendrix said that he was notified of the robbery about 7:40 o'clock this morning when O. D. Kennemer, head of the Scottsboro bank, told him of the discovery. Mr. Kennemer declared that no report was heard of the explosion. He gave the opinion that the robbery was done either late last night or early this morning as the safe was still hot.

The following story of the robbery was given out today by the Associated Press under a Huntsville date line:

Huntsville, Ala., Nov. 17.—The vault of the Tennessee Valley Bank at Scottsboro was entered by burglars who escaped with approximately $20,000 last night according to information given by bank officials today.

The cracksmen gained entrance to the vault by burning a hole in the floor with a blow torch, the tank for which had been brought to the bank in an automobile.

Detectives have been notified. The robbery was not discovered until this morning.

SYNOPSIS
Connemara Moore, finding herself on a yacht in Long Island Sound after midnight, attempted to leap overboard, but was restrained by one, Pooch, a stranger. Then McTish, the skipper, tells Pooch for annoying her. In the bow of the boat Connemara is amazed to find young David Lacy, with whom she had driven from Aunt Cilimena's Connecticut home. He had been spilled in an automobile accident and is now in the company of two mysterious characters, "Doc" and "Sweetie."

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

"Shut up, Doc, you're all wet!" called the lady weakly, sitting up on the deck. This was a true statement, however she meant it.
"Are you all right, Sweetie?" asked the big fellow anxiously.
"K. O.," responded the girl tersely. "Where's the guy we had with us?"
"I hope he's drowned!" was the unfeeling answer. "The big stiff—he was a Jonah! Hey, who's in charge of this tub?" he added to McTish.
McTish turned to look at Lacy, who, rope in hand, was in controversy with Mr. Pooch.
"Stick out your arms like a nice little boy," suggested Lacy. "I'm going to tie you up in a neat little package and ship you somewhere where you'll be more appreciated!"
Mr. Pooch slowly arose to his feet. He surveyed the slighter man contemptuously and then his roving eyes took in the little group in the bow who were watching the tableau with various emotions. As his glance fell on Connemara, his eyes brightened. Mr. Pooch had a one-track mind.

Lacy dropped Mr. Pooch to the deck.

"Gimme that fifty grand!" he demanded hoarsely, staggering toward her. The big man and his girl companion started and looked at each other significantly.

"Do what you're told!" exclaimed Lacy impatiently—and dropped Mr. Pooch to the deck with a perfectly timed left hook. Immediately stooping, he began the process of tying up his victim.

"Where's that gun?" whispered Doc, shaking Sweetie's arm.

"I lost it when this scow hit us," Sweetie answered—then warned, "don't start nothin' you can't finish, Doc!"

Ignoring her advice, Doc strode over to Connemara and grasped her arm roughly. "So you did get the jack, hey?" he growled. "Well, that makes things easier. Gimme that dough or I'll croak you!"

Lacy reached Connemara's side as though shot from a cannon and while Sweetie's warning shriek was still on the air, his right fist shot out and thudded against Doc's jaw. But Doc did not go down, a la Pooch. Instead, he returned the compliment with much vigor. In another instant the two men were thrashing about the rolling deck, while McTish, in response to Mr. Lacy's shouted command held the struggling, clawing, howling Sweetie, with both arms tightly pinioned at her sides. From his prostrate position on the floor, Mr. Pooch watched the proceedings with mournful interest.

A fortunate blow from Lacy, who even to Connemara's inexperienced eyes seemed to be something of a boxer, sent Doc crashing to the deck. The big man's head struck a projection with a resounding and soul-satisfying bump. He lay still and unresisting as Lacy deftly bound him and with the help of McTish rolled him alongside Mr. Pooch. Released during the process, Sweetie leaned against the rail and glared at each in turn.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevins, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Theodor's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he says:

"Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated. I would have dizziness and couldn't work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything."

"It seemed to cleanse my whole system and make me feel like new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of 'pep' and could do twice the work."

The hospital has the enviable record of having never turned away a

For that reason while the hospital has been self-sustaining, it has not been able to lay aside sufficient funds to provide for additional room as it was needed.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

DOES every day find you miserable with backache? Do you suffer sharp, stabbing pains? Are you lame and stiff—always tired, nervous and dispirited?

Then you should be looking to your kidneys? Your kidneys are the blood filters. Perhaps they have lagged—have failed to properly rid the blood of body poisons.

Naturally, then, you suffer the injurious effects of this slow poisoning.

Don't risk neglect! If your kidneys need help use Doan's Pills. No other kidney diuretic is so well recommended nor so universally successful. Ask your neighbor!

HERE IS ALBANY PROOF:

Mrs. Duria Roper, 218 Moulton St., says: "My back became weak and I had a terrible hurting across my kidneys. I could hardly get about the house. I became so dizzy, black specks danced before my eyes, almost blinding me. Mornings I was so lame and sore I could hardly get up. My kidneys didn't act right. WHY IS JURY SERVICE SHUNNED BY SO MANY GOOD CITIZENS?

One quick check against the apparent modern tendency to lower the public estimation of the importance of law and courts would be a recognition by all good citizens of their own individual responsibilities in the matter of jury service. This is the opinion of one Alabama jurist with whom the writer talked several days ago.

The judge drew from his own experience many incidents which aptly illustrated the point he was making, that far too many good citizens seek by every known method to shun jury service.

Citizens who pay their taxes observe, the law themselves, are diligent in an effort to have others do the same, who are patriotic and fired by love of their country, fail miserably to take into consideration that the jury system is an integral part of our legal system, and that it places on every citizen a duty.

The more responsibility a citizen has in private life, the better juror he is, as a usual thing. If a man makes a success of his own affairs, ordinarily it indicates that he is a man of balanced judgment. Certainly all jurors should be of this kind.

The first thought of far too many prospective jurors, when they receive a summons, is: "How may I get out of serving?" Their scruples may be such that they would not stoop to tell a falsehood about their qualification, but they do not hesitate to exhaust every honorable means to escape the service. Meanwhile they take up the time of attorneys and of the court in pleading their excuses for dismissal.

Most courts would not work a hardship on individuals, when it can be prevented, but the jury system is such an important cog in the legal machinery of America, that at some time or another jury service is almost certain to be inconvenient to some one.

The situation could be made much easier, however, if every citizen would realize that it is his civic duty to serve on juries and, when summoned, prepare himself for such service as his own contribution to the success of his government.

THE SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE IS SUBJECT OF DEBATE IN THE PRESS

The Birmingham Age-Herald finds much to criticize in the official acts of Governor Brandon's administration and that of the Alabama highway department. The Age-Herald, if The Daily correctly interprets its position, is opposed to the convening of the legislature in special session to act on a pre-arranged program at this time. That is the Age-Herald's right to believe as it sees fit.

The Birmingham newspaper, however, is doing an immense amount of good in publishing from time to time excerpts from editorials in other Alabama newspapers, favoring and opposing the extra session. The Age-Herald, by this action, is arousing an interest in the public at large and, after all, whatever the public desires the public is likely to get.

The proposed extra session is connected to a very large degree with the proposal of Chairman John A. Rogers, of the state highway commission, to submit a $75,000,000 bond issue, the proceeds of which would be used for construction of roads. Whether the extra session is called, or whether the plan remains as one of the problems of the next state administration, the Age-Herald, by focusing attention on the proposals, will have accomplished a constructive bit of work.

The Age-Herald's clippings from the other papers are not one-sided, that is the benefit of the plan. The Birmingham morning daily seems to be trying to put all shades of opinion before the people, in order that the people may judge.

Perhaps the Age-Herald, like The Daily, believes that if the people are informed they can be trusted to do that which is right most of the time.

ALL THAT GLITTERS IS NOT GOLD. ROCKEFELLER, WITH A FORTUNE, FINDS

Nearly every person who does not possess a million dollars, or a few million dollars, believe they would enjoy such possession.

John D. Rockefeller, who owns numerous millions, finds, after accumulating one of the world's greatest fortunes, that all that glitters is not gold. Grown old in harness, he has reached a ripe old age, only to remark that his immense business connections have made him a servant, instead of a master.

Mr. Rockefeller is quoted as declaring:

I am harnessed to a cart in which the people ride; whether I like it or not I must work for the race. The first step I took in business obligated me to the men who worked for me and who thence forward looked to me for employment, and investors who put in their money and looked to me for results. The working-men, numbering but a few score at first, then hundreds, the thousands, and now approximately a million and a half. There was a similar increase in the number of investors, who were holding me to account, while I worked for myself, I had to work for them. We are servants—not masters, who are or have been engaged in large business affairs. It is our most vital interest that the country shall prosper, and that all the world shall prosper, and that all the people shall prosper, for only then can we find among them a market for what we produce.

The people can destroy us, or our business, but in so doing they destroy our power of serving them. In fact, we would probably suffer the least. The richest man in the world can only eat three meals a day, and it does not take much to dress as well as is possible or to provide real luxury in living. The men who have acquired the largest fortunes have not pursued wealth. Had they desired money for the enjoyment of money, they would have stopped far short of spending their whole lives as they have in the struggle, that is business, but these men continue to toil at their desks, because they love achievement. They work for the keen delight of creating something where nothing was, and some time the people will be convinced that these men were toiling for love of their country as well.

Sagacious as is Mr. Rockefeller's counsel and despite the high opinion in which his judgment is held, most of us will go right ahead wishing that we had a few of his many millions. Perhaps if we had one, we would want another and, given two, would want four. That is said to be the experience of millionaires, whose discontent grows apace their fortune. Be that as it may, who is there who wouldn't like to experiment a bit.

LET US NOT BE CONTENTED WITH THE CIVIC PACE WHICH WAS SET 10 YEARS AGO.

Reading the great number of Alabama papers which daily come to the exchange table and by various means keeping more or less in touch with the rest of the state, The Daily is deeply concerned lest the people of this section fail to appreciate the swift pace in civic development which is being set by the greater area of Alabama.

There is danger for us in the situation. There is no doubt that Albany and Decatur are making steady progress, but it may be that our citizens will not grasp the significance of the progress made in other communities. Judged by standards of a decade ago, Albany and Decatur are doing more than is necessary to maintain their place in the listing of Alabama cities. We must not, however, forget that the standards of ten years ago are far from being the standards today.

The pace in Alabama today is swift. There can be no doubt of that. Spurred by the success of Florida, Alabama is steadily forging to the front in industrial and commercial greatness. There never has been a time when the north and east were giving so much attention to Southern developments, we might easily add to Alabama development. Other communities in this state, not content with merely offering a hand in cordial greeting, are searching for these investors and in more ways and one attempting to convince them of the peculiar fitness of that particular community for investment and expansion.

The writer has been impressed recently with stories appearing in different Alabama newspapers this week regarding the activities of high school football teams. Down at Dothan, six hundred people of that city accompanied their football team over to Enterprise for a game with the high school there. Dothan lost the game, but Dothan convinced the world that the people of Dothan believe in their city and are loyal to it. A well known showman, playing in Dothan, became so imbued with the Dothan spirit, he took his band and his automobile trucks over Ensley's high school football team went over to Sheffield for a game. Stores and offices in Ensley closed and about 1,000 citizens flocked aboard a special train and went with the team.

In Tuscaloosa, banquet was arranged for the school eleven of that city and the visiting team, following an important game, well known citizens attended, many of them delivering addresses and the spirit of loyalty to Tuscaloosa and Tuscaloosa institutions ran rampant.

These are inconsequential things, many readers may say, but The Daily does not consider them inconsequential. It was not that the people of Ensley, Tuscaloosa and Dothan were only backing their football teams, it was the spirit which lay behind their determination to do so. These people were for Tuscaloosa, Dothan and Ensley. The football games but provided a vehicle for expression of their spirit of loyalty.

Saturday, when Alabama and Florida lined up for their game in Montgomery, some hundred people of Dothan sat in a reserved section of the grand stand, with banners flying above their section, advising the crowd that these people were present to lend encouragement to "Dothan's Own," the two Browns, members of Alabama's team.

With such a spirit as that, is it any wonder that Roger Babson, America's greatest commercial statistician, says of Dothan that it leads the whole state in business opportunities and is second only to Albany, Ga., in the entire nation? Dothan was ranked ahead of Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville and Lakeland, all of which are in this state of Florida we hear so much about.

Those who might be inclined to sneer at the communities which back their football teams, along with their other organizations, may encounter difficulty in "laughing off" the Babson report. Tuscaloosa has just dedicated a 12 story bank building. Ensley recently was selected for another steel plant. Are there any who really believe that community spirit had nothing whatsoever to do with the success of Dothan, Tuscaloosa and Ensley?

tion" turns into divorce, of course. When husband and wife think they need a separation, divorce is what they really need. She is in Paris, getting the divorce. He is on his way to help her get it. The public will be much obliged.

AN IMPORTANT Paris newspaper says Italy was well treated in regard to her debt, because many Italian votes in this country frightened United States Senators. Thus are we misjudged.

THIS is news, because it is entirely new—like the old story of the man biting the dog.

Madame Marie Girard, owner of a little store in Paris, poisoned herself with veronal because the government threatened a direct levy on private fortunes. Her farewell: "I possess a small fortune and prefer to die rather than give half to the state."

Dying, she had to leave it all, but that made no difference. Love of money, with one familiar exception, the strongest passion.

STOCK toilers went home to Sabbath prayers and golf, a little tired, with prices down, but all ready to start again on Monday. Some things, only a few, are too high, but everyone of them may go higher, probably will. Timid souls, including our "best minds" say the rise, generally, has gone too far. They will learn that when incomes double, values double.

A majority of corporation properties with real value and competent management back of them, will go up twice as far as they have gone. Make a memorandum of that, but don't gamble.

IF a Russian experiences an emotion, he likes to express it. In a Czechoslovakian village, largely inhabited by peasants of Russian blood, there is an election with feeling running high.

The peasants, captured 15 Socialist agitators, too "red" to suit them, and cut off their 30 ears.

BE GLAD, American Socialists, and capitalists, that you live in tolerant America. Here we shoot, occasionally, but rarely cut off ears. Once such mutilation, also cutting off nose, lips and tongue was a regular part of judicial proceedings, in all "civilized" governments.

RAY CHAPMAN ANDREWS, of New York's Museum, returns from the Desert of Gobi, on the high table lands of old Asia, with more and bigger dinosaur eggs, more wonders to tell.

He has skulls 10,000,000 years old of primitive mammals, just changing from the serpent to the mammal form, when the "former" snake began to nurse its young, according to the teachings of evolution.

ANDREWS says the oldest uninterrupted life on this earth has existed there in Asia.

That part of the world escaped the ice that swept away life elsewhere and there man was first developed and spread over the earth.

The "missing link," if ever found, will be found there, says Andrews.

But even if the beginnings of evolution were found, how could you expect to find and identify a missing link anywhere? A baby, after 90 years, changes into a toothless, bald old man. And in all the 90 years you can't put your finger on any one spot that is the "link" between the baby and the nonagenarian.

Friday Observance Is Being Looked To With Interest

The Albany school system is observing National Educational week with appropriate programs in each of the rooms of the various schools. Friday November 20 is being stressed as "Know Your School Day" and patrons of the school are extended an invitation through the faculty to attend.

The schools have inaugurated programs throughout the week. Dr. James D. Hunter, Methodist pastor, spoke today in the auditorium in the old high school building, his subject being "Patriotism."

The following partial outline of the value parents may find in visiting the schools, is published in connection with the national week:

To keep in touch with the work of their children.

To encourage the teachers.

To get first hand information about the work of the schools.

To show their willingness to cooperate with the administration of the school.

For the moral effect it will have on the pupil to know that parents and teachers are pulling together in his training and discipline.

To become acquainted personally with teachers and principals.

To learn at first-hand the conditions under which their children spend five hours a day.

To learn the problems children must meet (course of study, easy studies, difficult studies, time schedules etc.)

To make it more possible for school officials to interpret to parents the policies under which the school operates.

To advise school authorities as to the needs of the district as seen from the parents standpoint.

FIRE RECORD IS GOOD

The record being made this fall for the small number of fires in the city of Albany is one of the best, so far, in many years in the opinion of firemen, who declared today if the ratio continues, the end of the calendar year probably will reveal one of the smallest total loss records in ten years or more.

GRADES COMPLETED BY HEALTH OFFICER

Warning Issued Today Against Adulteration Of Milk Sold

The Morgan County health department, beginning the enforcement of the milk ordinances adopted by the city councils of Albany and Decatur Tuesday announced it had completed the grades for all retail and wholesale dairies serving consumers in the two cities.

The ordinances require dairymen to label with the dairy's grade, all milk sold in the two cities. It was pointed out this was for the consumers protection, the ordinance not requiring dairies to sell a specific grade of milk, but requiring the dairies to properly mark whatever grade is sold.

The grades of all dairies were on file at the Morgan County health department, where any information in regard to grades may be obtained.

The statement of Dr. McRee added: "It is a known fact that some of the retail milk is being watered. Dairymen are hereby warned to refrain from adulterating milk offered for sale. Dairymen will be required to label their milk according to the grade announced, until conditions warrant a change."

The completing of the grade was in line with the health department's previously announced policy of beginning enforcement of the milk ordinances adopted several months ago in Albany and Decatur.

Stewart Denies He Shot Fatal Shot At The Negro

thenticity of a statement made by W. V. Davidson during the morning session of the court.

The defense in summing up Mr. Stewart's testimony again asked for the details of events said to have preceded the shooting and Mr. Stewart stated that Mr. West told the negro to consider himself under arrest and that Mr. West said the negro hit him. Mr. Stewart again declared that Mr. West said that he had told the negro that he was a policeman. He said he did not remember the negro's reply.

Attorney Hutson conducted the cross examination and Mr. Stewart told of the location of the two men when he found them, Mr. West on the north side of the road and the negro on the south side. He said that it was possibly 10 seconds after he heard West call that the gun fire started. He stated that West had declared he told the negro he was a police officer. He said he did not examine the body. He said that West and the negro were close together when the shots were fired. Mr. Stewart declared that he did not repudiate a statement alleged to have been made the morning following the shooting and appearing in the Daily that same afternoon to the effect that he had fired at the negro.

Dr. F. L. Carswell then was called by the defense and testified that he had examined Mr. West following the occurrence and found a red spot and bruises on his back and shoulders. Dr. Carswell testified that the wound on the back was three or four inches in diameter and that it looked as if it had been made with a blunt instrument. He said he examined West about three hours after the reported occurrence.

On cross examination Dr. Carswell said that the skin was not broken.

On direct Dr. Carswell stated that he had called the city attorney and the county jail following the report of the shooting and was unable to get either of the points. He then called Judge Trup, he stated, who advised to let the people take care of the body and that it was not necessary to hold an inquest.

On re-direct Dr. Carswell stated that Stewart had stated that there had been a man killed. Dr. Carswell said he did not inquire into the details at that time.

Judge Lowe asked the witness if he (Dr. Carswell) had the impression that a body had been found in that section and the witness said that he did not gain such impression.

The defense rested at 2:55.

The state offered no rebuttal. Attorneys Hutson and D. C. Almon presented the arguments for the state asking that no bail be granted and that the parties be held to await the action of the grand jury. Attorneys Price and Griffith summed up the points in behalf of the defense showing that the shooting could not, be termed a first degree offense and that the men should be granted bail. Judge William T. Lowe then chose to reserve his decision.

Morgan 10th In Cotton Figures

Morgan County is standing tenth in the list of 67 counties in the state of Alabama in the production of cotton for the year 1925, according to a report made public today by the department of agriculture, Washington.

Morgan County has dreams of arriving at the 40,000 bale figure for the year, but this dream seems hardly likely to be realized with the season so far advanced and Morgan County not having reached 30,000 on November 1st.

The following report was made public today:

The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census announces the preliminary report on cotton ginned by counties, in Alabama, for the crops of 1925 and 1924.

(Quantities are in running bales, counting round as half bales. Linters are not included.)

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Atlee H. Hoff
vs.
Lula Chandler, et al.
Circuit Court, Morgan County, Alabama, in Equity

In this cause, it appears to the register, from the affidavit of complainant, that defendants Hays Hughes, Crit Hughes and Hal Hughes are non-residents of Alabama, over 21 years of age, and that their residences and post office addresses are unknown, after diligent effort to learn the same. It is therefore ordered by the register that publication be made once a week for four consecutive weeks in the Albany-Decatur Daily, a newspaper published in Morgan County, requiring said defendant to plead, answer or demur to the bill in this cause by December 16, 1925, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

This November 16, 1925.

"A Well-Balanced Diet Built Around Meats"

Nothing developed on the trip to cause me to revise my idea about foods; which is that a well-balanced diet built around meats yields the best health results.

On the way north we had fresh domestic meat from the supply taken aboard when we sailed. After we reached the North we relied upon the wild life of the region, using seal, walrus, caribou, muskox, Arctic hare, and many kinds of wild ducks.

Every day we had fresh meat with plenty of fat at at least one meal and usually oftener when supplies were plentiful, and every one came through the four months in excellent condition; in fact, most of the members of the party gained weight.

While we often hear it claimed that eating too much meat is unfavorable to health, it is a fact that such ailments as gout, hardening of the arteries, and other disorders attributed to an excess of meat eating are quite unknown to the Eskimos who eat nothing but meat.

In my own experience I have never known anyone to attempt to live in the Arctic on a vegetarian diet. On the other hand, every Arctic explorer now-days relies upon the native fresh meats as a sure preventive of scurvy, a much dreaded nutritional disorder which was prevalent in earlier Arctic experience times before we learned a lesson in diet from the Eskimo.

JOLSON DENIES HE KNEW ALICE JONES

Comedian Testifies In Rhinelander Suit For Annulment

(Associated Press)
WHITE PLAINS N. Y., Nov. 17.—Al Jolson, blackface comedian, took the witness stand today in the trial of Leonard Kipp Rhinelander's annulment suit against Alice Jones Rhinelander, part negro, and denied that he had ever seen her at a summer resort in 1922 as she had represented in a letter to Rhinelander. Jolson took the stand in the midst of cross examination of young Rhinelander at the request of L. N. Mills, the plaintiff's attorney. Jolson denied he had been in Paul Smith's, N. Y., at the time Alice wrote Leonard she had met him and found him "some flirt with the girls." "I never in my life even saw either the defendant or the plaintiff," Jolson told the court. Rhinelander today admitted parts of the bill of particulars he signed in bringing his annulment suit were untrue. It was on the question of young Rhinelander ever discussing with his future wife whether she had negro blood that Lee Parsons, her counsel, brought the admission he had signed papers knowing parts of them to be false. Parsons had been asking questions to bring out the part in the annulment suit played by Lee R. Jacobs, an attorney, employed in the office of Philip Rhinelander, the plaintiff's father, walking to where Alice Rhinelander sat dejectedly, Parsons asked her to remove her hat. As she did so, young Rhinelander looked at her, one of the few times during the trial he has met her eyes. "Does your wife look the same now as she did when you met her?" the lawyer asked. "Yes." "Was there no inquiry in your mind as to her color?" "Yes, in Arizona. I was there in 1922."

Hood Absolves His Wife From Blame

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Walter M. Hood, of Birmingham, Ala., whose wife, Mrs. Florence Hood, swallowed poison in a hotel here Sunday, absolved his wife and John Caspin of blame. He blamed the drinks she had Saturday night for the despondency during which she drank poison. He said his married life had been ideal. "Caspin was a friend of the family. He and my wife did not have a love affair. That is absurd," Mr. Hood said. The aged father of Mrs. Hood and other relatives joined him today, preparatory to taking the body to Detroit tonight for burial beside that of her mother.

Local Teams Prepare To End Season; Decatur Faces Hanceville On Friday

Local high school and Independent elevens are preparing to end the 1925 football grind Thanksgiving Day, but not before the Decatur high school has tested the pigskin talent of the Hanceville High school aggregation at the Decatur Athletic field next Friday afternoon. Albany high is without an engagement Friday. The Y. M. C. A. squad will take a day off and trot down to Anniston where they meet the Anniston Military Institute. Decatur High will be in all readiness for the Friday game and promises local fandom that something out of the ordinary in packing the leather-covered oval will be demonstrated. Coach Grimes announced today that his team is in good condition with the exception of Morrow, quarter back and captain. Morrow sprained an ankle Monday while running around the school building and it is likely that he will be unable to contribute his ability to the Decatur cohorts. The game will be the last seen on the local grounds unless the Decatur team or the Y. M. C. A. choose to play on Thanksgiving here. Albany high has a heavy date in Huntsville with the high school for Turkey Day afternoon. The Y. M. C. A. is in good condition for the game at Anniston and promises to place a good report in their favor on this last invasion of the year. Coach Ashwander will probably have to revamp his backfield with the loss of Braswell and Morrow will probably serve at left-half. Shelton remains out of the running with an injured knee. Holland is suffering with a bad shoulder. It is likely that Speer will be ready for service against the Anniston aggregation.

Combination Wins First Bowling Start

The 10 pin bowling schedule at the Y. M. C. A. opened with a good start last night with the Machine Shop team bowling the Combination team. The latter team won the majority of games, receiving three points as against one point won by Machine Shop.

Hagerman rolled high single game of 167 pins, with McCauley a close second with 166 pins. Wolfe also bowled a good game, making 149 pins.

Teams bowling tonight will be the Hum-Dingers vs. the Railroaders. Personnel of teams is Gray, Kline, Singleton, Dr. Clements, Louis Nebrig, Vaughn, Kitchens Byars Weatherly and Phillips. Hum-Dingers receive a handicap of nine pins.
